

Title: Juba lacks base stations

Generated on: 2026-03-16 08:53:13

Copyright (C) 2026 SMART SYSTEMS S.L. All rights reserved.

Why are people in Juba worried about airstrikes in Upper Nile State?

A cross section of residents of the South Sudan capital, Juba, have voiced concerns over the worsening security situation following continued airstrikes in Nasir and Ulang counties in Upper Nile State by the Ugandan People's Defence Forces (UPDF) and the recent bombardment of the SPLA-IO's cantonment site in the Wunliet area west of Juba.

Where can I find a travel guide for Juba?

Wikivoyage has a travel guide for Juba. Wikimedia Commons has media related to Juba. Fisher, J. 2005, 'Southern Sudan's Front-line Town', BBC News, 20 April 2005. Holt, K. 2007, 'In pictures: Juba's Street Struggle', BBC News, 4 January 2007.

What is Juba International Airport?

Juba International Airport (IATA: JUB, ICAO: HJJJ) is the site of large numbers of flights bringing UN and non-governmental organization (NGO) aid into South Sudan, as well as passengers and general air freight. The construction of a new terminal was begun in late 2007 when the oil prices were very high ($100+).

How did Juba change from 2006 to 2011?

From 2006 to 2011, Juba grew in a fast pace, with its population rising from 250,000 to a million. The city became an amalgamation of villages, with many refugees and returnees mimicking their old way of living. In this period, the local Bari ethnic communities kept distance from newcomers, due to ethno-regional stereotyping.

Incensed by what they saw in the clips and wanting to retaliate, hundreds of young men attacked Sudanese-owned businesses in Juba and other parts of South Sudan on Thursday.

JUBA, South Sudan (AP) -- South Sudan's government on Monday asked civilians to leave a northern area a day after the army conducted an airstrike against an armed ...

Listen to this article (JUBA) - The government of South Sudan has renewed its demand for the closure of major United Nations peacekeeping bases in Wau ...

According to Sebit, the deployment of security personnel for joint operations on the streets of Juba causes a lot of fear among citizens.

Juba lacks base stations

Source: <https://smart-telecaster.es/Sun-03-Jul-2022-21488.html>

Website: <https://smart-telecaster.es>

Sudan and South Sudan have agreed to protect oil facilities and the central stations of the pipelines transporting Juba's oil to Port ...

The forces are now focused on furthering their offensive against Al-Shabaab, aiming to consolidate gains and ensure stability in the strategically important region of Lower ...

Incensed by what they saw in the clips and wanting to retaliate, hundreds of young men attacked Sudanese-owned businesses ...

The port serves to provide access to areas in the north of the country to locations inaccessible by road, especially during the rainy season. The port of Juba lacks basic facilities and is served ...

This shared vulnerability has compelled authorities in Khartoum and Juba, even amid Sudan's chaos, to negotiate arrangements aimed at protecting pipelines and pumping ...

Sudan and South Sudan have agreed to protect oil facilities and the central stations of the pipelines transporting Juba's oil to Port Sudan on the Red Sea, the two sides said in a ...

Website: <https://smart-telecaster.es>

